

SAYS SHE NEVER SAW RILEY SOBER

Neighbor's Damaging Testimony in Support of Mrs. Riley's Divorce Suit.

UNHAPPY WIVES AIR WOES
BRIDE OF LESS THAN A YEAR GETS DECREE.

Half a dozen unhappy wives offered pleas for the dissolution of the bonds of matrimony in Judge Morse's court yesterday.

The first case called was that of Alice T. Gray, an elderly work-woman who testified that she had been married to Andrew Gray in Philadelphia in 1885, and came to Utah with her husband in 1891. For the first four years of her life in this state her husband was sober and industrious. Since that time, however, she asserts that he has been drunk two-thirds of the time. The only witness called was Charles Archibald, who corroborated the woman's claims. A decree of divorce was granted.

Mrs. Clara McCourt then took the stand and told a story of neglect and hardship suffered at the hands of her husband, Clement H. McCourt. They were married in Ogden in 1902, but have since made Salt Lake their home. She stated that her husband left her in January, 1906, and that in August, 1906, she received a letter from him to the effect that he did not propose to live with her again. She was granted a bill of divorce together with the custody of their two-year old child.

Riley in His Cups.

The next case called was that of Mrs. Grace S. Riley, who was granted a divorce from Arthur E. Riley, a locomotive engineer, on the grounds of drunkenness and failure to support. Mrs. Riley testified that she was married to Riley in May, 1902, and that her husband was a drunkard. She was granted a bill of divorce together with the custody of their two-year old child.

Laura Gets Alimony.

Mrs. Laura M. Atkinson, who is suing for divorce from her husband, J. M. Atkinson, was awarded $45 a month temporary alimony and $99 attorney's fees pending the final hearing of the case. Her husband is a clerk in the employ of the Oregon Short Line railroad, and he was in receipt of a salary of $12 a month.

Ida F. Neff of Sandy was granted a divorce from her husband Benjamin B. Neff, together with alimony of $25 a month. She says her husband drinks and gambles and that she sews and does other work for a living. In the last two years his contributions to the support of herself and family have amounted to between $25 and $30.

SAMUEL DOXEY DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Educator Falls Dead as the Result of an Epileptic Fit.

WAS A PROMINENT TEACHER
HAD SUFFERED FOR YEARS FROM NERVOUS TROUBLE.

Samuel Doxey, formerly superintendent of manual training in the Salt Lake public schools, and for years prominent in educational work here, dropped dead yesterday afternoon from epilepsy. Since leaving the public schools Mr. Doxey has been in business as an architect and builder.

For the past two weeks he has been building a barn for David H. Christensen, superintendent of schools. The barn was in the rear of Mr. Christensen's house at No. 6 Capitol avenue, which is but a short distance from Mr. Doxey's residence at Eleventh South and Main streets. Late yesterday afternoon J. W. James, an employee of the Granite Lumber company, drove into the barnyard with a load of lumber and saw Doxey lying face downward on the ground.

Found Body Cold.

He ran to the place where the body lay and found it cold and stiff, the man evidently having been dead for some time. The lumberman notified the police and Veteran Educator, Who Died Suddenly Friday Afternoon.

County Physician Calderwood, Officers Beckstead and Hilton went to the place in the patrol wagon, closely followed by Dr. Calderwood. The physician pronounced the man dead and the remains were taken to the undertaking rooms of E. G. O'Donnell.

Mr. Doxey has been subject to attacks of epilepsy for several years and there is little doubt but that it was in one of these attacks that he expired. At the time of the Gans-Nelson prize fight Mr. Doxey created considerable excitement among the crowd that was watching. The Herald bulletins of the fight by falling in an epileptic fit. He was unconscious for several hours at that time, but finally revived.

University Graduate.

Mr. Doxey was graduated from the University of Utah in 1890 and for several years taught in the public schools of Ogden. Later he went to the University of Illinois, where he equipped himself in a course of school house architecture. Returning to Ogden he again entered the public schools as a teacher and was soon elevated to the position of principal of the Grant school. This position he held until 1898, when Superintendent Frank B. Cooper of the Salt Lake public schools, realizing Mr. Doxey's ability, made him principal of the Hamilton school.

The board of education in the winter of 1902 created the manual training department and decided upon Mr. Doxey as the most capable person to fill the position of supervisor of this new branch of learning. After receiving the appointment Mr. Doxey made a trip to Naas, Sweden, where he made a thorough study of manual training at the famous school of that place, and before returning went to Germany, where he received other valuable instruction.

Becoming master of his subject, Mr. Doxey came back to Salt Lake and organized the manual training department, which under his subsequent supervision became a pronounced success. Last winter Mr. Doxey's health failed him and he was compelled to give up the work so well begun.

Mr. Doxey was 40 years old and was the son of John Doxey, a pioneer of Weber county. He is survived by his widow and two children, nine sisters and seven brothers.

PRIVATE ROOMS BARRED.

Bill Puts Ban on Compartments in Restaurants.

"Any female who enters a saloon, wine room or dram shop; or the keeper of any saloon, wine room or dram shop who permits a female to enter the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine not exceeding $300, or imprisonment in the county jail for six months, or both."

The foregoing is the text of a bill introduced in the house yesterday by Mr. Richards and referred to the committee on judiciary.

Another bill along the same line introduced by the same author is as follows: "Any keeper of a restaurant, dining hall, saloon or dram shop, or the owner of the premises where such restaurant, dining hall, saloon or dram shop is located, permitting any compartments or private rooms to be built and maintained within his place of business shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine not exceeding $300."

MESSANGER BOY HURT.

Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury From Collision.

Charles McAllister, a messenger boy of the Independent Messenger service, was run down by an express wagon early yesterday afternoon and narrowly escaped serious injury. The boy was riding down Second South street on his wheel when he was struck by the express wagon No. 122 was coming down the street and two of the wheels passed over the boy, inflicting several bruises which did not prove serious. The clerk's records show that the express wagon belonged to H. P. Sorenson of 715 West Sixth North. The driver of the wagon failed to stop after the boy was hurt to ascertain whether or not he was seriously injured.

A pretty romance of chance acquaintance and love at first sight was consummated Thursday evening, when William R. Sibley, head bookkeeper at E. The happy couple are now believed to be in Los Angeles, though the details of the honeymoon trip were kept strictly secret by the lovers.

A year or so ago the former Miss Stephenson was engaged as a clerk at the Auerbach store. The head bookkeeper among the crowd that was watching the new clerk presided three times daily and it wasn't long before he sought an

A BRILLIANT, ANIMATED AND COLORFUL SCENE

The junior promenade given last evening by the class of 1908 of the university was a brilliant affair. The attendance and the decorations far surpassed anything of this kind ever attempted before by the students. In the promenade that opened the dance there were nearly 200 couples, and the large crowd of merry dancers remained until the four o'clock hour. The music was furnished by the orchestra stand, and the decorations were of the most brilliant. From the four corners of the hall were strung electric lights in harmony with the color effect. A large hall above the stage of the dancers, illuminated the entire hall, and at each end of the hall a canopy top and the sides were draped with scalloped green and white. In the front there was a large gold harp. The bottom was also beautifully draped in green and white. On each side of the orchestra stand were large American flags completely covering the east wall.

Around the three other sides of the gymnasium there were two booths. Next to the entrance to the hall in the southeast corner was the arts' booth. The front of this was an arch, and inside were a number of the school curiosities, among which was the battalion flag of the old university cadet corps. Next to this the Theta Upsilon Sorority had "Ye Wishing Well." The interior of this represented a midnight scene. The walls were covered with stars and the room was lighted by a moon. In the center was a rustic well.

In the southwest corner of the hall the juniors had a refreshment parlor. Here two kinds of punch were served. This room was beautifully draped in green and white. The Gamma Phi girls had the next booth. It was called "Cupid's Temple." The walls were covered with red hearts and valentines. In the center was a rustic well. The Delta Sigma Fraternity had the next place. Blue and white, the fraternity colors, were used in the decorations. In the front of the booth, screening it from the hall, was a large Delta and Sigma in the shape of the fraternity pin. The interior of the booth was covered with college pennants. In the

The body was taken to O'Donnell's undertaking rooms, and a brother, James E. Forshee, notified.

Joe Thurman, a negro, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Ben Siegfus for trespass in the Rio Grande yards and was positively identified last night by R. B. Martin claims the negro was attempting to break into his laboratory at the house of the late Dr. J. W. James, and was caught by the police. The chemist's analysis of the powder from the pistol showed it to be the same as the powder found in the laboratory.

CASES WILL NOT GO BY DEFAULT

Moyer, Heywood and Pettibone Will Be Put on Trial for Their Lives in Idaho.

TRIAL TO BEGIN IN MARCH
THREE PRISONERS IN ADA COUNTY JAIL.

(Special to The Herald.)

Boise, Feb. 8.—The impression that seems to prevail in some sections of the country that the state of Idaho will drop the cases against the so-called "dynamiters," Heywood, Pettibone and Moyer, on account of lack of evidence, is declared by the representatives of the prosecution here to be entirely erroneous. The delay in the trial of these cases, it is said by the prosecution, has been caused almost entirely by the defense itself. It is pointed out that had the attorneys for the defense been willing to drop one of the two habeas corpus proceedings instituted in the state courts and in the supreme court of the United States, the cases might have been disposed of long since.

The next session of the Canyon circuit court, at which the newly elected Judge Bryan will preside, is scheduled to begin on the 5th day of March. At this time a setting of cases, the ever-Heywood-Pettibone cases among them, will be made. Before a day can be definitely fixed for the commencement of these proceedings, a motion for change of venue from the Canyon county district must be disposed of.

This motion was filed before Judge Frank J. Smith, now retired from office, and is supported by numerous affidavits tending to show prejudice on the part of residents of Canyon county and attempting to make it appear that the defense could not receive a fair trial there. The motion will be argued as soon as the March term of court opens, unless the attorneys for the prosecution desire time in which to prepare and submit counter-affidavits, which they are not unlikely to do.

May Be Tried in Boise.

In case a change of venue is granted, the trials may be held in Boise. It is known that Governor Gooding is strongly in favor of holding the trials in Boise. This is the theory that greater protection can be afforded the court and the counsel for the prosecution and the witnesses. There are here at the Boise barracks two troops of cavalry and a company of infantry will be here before the trials can begin.

The attorneys for the defense laugh at the notion that any display of force is necessary. They say that the governor and the attorneys for the state and the state's witnesses do not need the protection of troops, or any protection whatever, to demonstrate to the satisfaction of any fair minded jury that their clients are innocent and that all they want is a fair trial.

In the event that a change of venue is not granted, the trials will begin about March 20 in the city of Caldwell. It is expected that great difficulty will be encountered in securing a jury and in completing the other preliminaries incident to an engagement of this kind. The most notable in the criminal history of the country. The actual taking of testimony will hardly be begun before the middle of April. Both prosecution and defense announce that they are ready at this moment to proceed with the trial and both declare that they have been ready for some time.

Senator-elect Borah of counsel for the prosecution said the reported burning of evidence in a safe belonging to the Mine Owners' association of Colorado at Colorado Springs would have no effect on this proceeding. There was no evidence in that safe of a vital character, as far as the Steunberger case is concerned, although it is thought possible that there may have been some collateral evidence contained in the documents that were destroyed, or that were alleged to have been destroyed, by the so-called "Pettibone dope."

Steve Adams on Trial.

E. F. Richardson, Clarence S. Darrow and Fred Miller, attorneys for the Western Federation of Miners and for Moyer, Heywood and Pettibone, are now in Wallace, where they have gone to defend Steve Adams, who is charged with the murder of a miner in the state of Idaho. Adams was held in the penitentiary for some months for alleged complicity in the Steunberger murder, but he was never indicted and the theory entertained by some who are familiar with the case is that the failure to indict him was the result of important disclosures he made to the prosecution. There is a report that Adams is going to deny many of his disclosures and his defense by the same attorneys who are defending Moyer, Heywood and Pettibone is apparently part of a bargain entered into between them and Adams.

PRISONERS WELL TREATED.

The three principal defendants are still confined in the Ada county jail at Boise. They are comfortably quartered and are cheerful in spite of the restraint of their liberty. Attorney John F. Nugent, who represents them locally, said that the defense has no complaint whatever to make with reference to their treatment in the county jail. The men are being given every possible courtesy and comfort. Mr. Nugent continued, "and they are bearing very well indeed. They are allowed to exercise freely in the yard. They are allowed to have books, magazines and newspapers, to write and receive letters freely, and to meet friends who call upon them."

STOCKHOLDERS BRING SUIT.

Methods of Blackbird Mining Co. Directors to Be Aired in Court.

The affairs of the Blackbird Mining company, which owns property and does business in Utah, though it is a West Virginia corporation, will be aired in the district court here. Suit has been brought by L. N. Morrison against the company, and the president, John E. Dubois, secretary, F. O. Erick, Charles J. Norih and B. N. Lehman, the complaint setting forth that the company is capitalized at $200,000 and holds property in Beaver county, Utah. The stock has been available in the open market for from $10 to 20 cents a share. An offer was made by John E. Dubois to purchase all the unissued bonds, amounting to $150,000 at 10 cents on the dollar, providing there was issued with these bonds two shares of treasury stock for each dollar par value of the bonds, making $15,000 shares. It is alleged that four members of the board of directors are under the control of Dubois, and these passed a resolution accepting the offer, and directing the proceeds, $15,000, to be applied to pay an indebtedness to John E. Dubois. At the annual meeting Dubois and his associates voted the majority of the stock, but a strong minority expressed their disapproval of the transaction in a resolution which was defeated. It is claimed that Dubois completely dominates the affairs of the company.

An injunction is asked to restrain and declare null and void the transaction; also to compel the parties to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.
